

The State of Connecticut is already a high tax state. Guns and ammo already have an additional 11% on top of the Connecticut sales tax. With the state surplus, why is the state looking to tax ammo even more? The committee is misguided to target ammo to make it even more expensive for hard working people to own, train and exercise their rights as responsible gun owners. Clearly this amounts to nothing less than penalizing the law-abiding citizens for the current climate on the gun debate. Therefore, I strongly urge that you oppose H.B. 5653.

Respectfully,

Steven Zacchio